KODA “Natural Functional Medicines”

There are two facets to a dog’s health and wellness. It is a combination of what you use and what you avoid. Simple skin disorders rank at the top of the list for veterinarian visits. We believe that over 60% of all skin disorders are actually caused by chemicals in everyday products...many which claim to be natural or organic. Among the top 10 reason for vet visits are internal disorders that we can directly link to diet and a need for simple supplements to replenish those lost from these chemicals in the environment. Longevity and Wellness is connected. We believe the body burden from chemicals in skin care and dietary shortfalls are causing disorders, outbreaks and even contributing to elevated cancer rates.

Ancient Remedies • Modern Technology • Green Science

Modern medicine rightfully treats symptoms and not the cause. Most products focus on the symptom and not the cause. Aboriginal, eastern, holistic, herbal, naturopathy and ancient medicines treat the whole being and look for the cause. In many cases it is imbalance that causes disease and disorders. Return balance and you return well-being.

We search the world for ancient remedies. We use modern technology, green science and pharmaceutical grade ingredients. The people that use our products for their dogs do so:

- to balance veterinarian steroid and antibiotic treatments
- to create a natural preventative wellness regime
- to reduce the environmental bio-burden
- to create a wellness and life extension plan for their dog

KODA is a division of Keys Care focused on functional medicine dog therapy products. Keys has been producing para-pharmaceutical products for dogs and people since 2005. KODA expands the Keys product line into the dog therapy and wellness market as a dedicated pet product line.

KODA products include chemical-free natural supplements, remedies and topical therapies for dogs. We use human pharmaceutical grade ingredients in therapeutic proportions to solve problems that account for the top 10 reasons for vet visits. KODA is a combination of wellness products and natural solutions. We use ancient remedies and modern technology to make natural products that make dogs feel good and solve both internal and skin problems.
